

Name: _____

ID: _____

ECS 089L: Ethics in an Age of Technology

Quiz 5

October 30, 2024

1) In which journal was the article published?

- a. The New York Times
- b. The Guardian
- c. The Washington Post
- d. The Davis Enterprise

The Guardian is the first newspaper that Snowden contacted. They remained attentive to all that concerned him.

2) This article was a follow up of

- e. Wikileaks publishing leaks provided by US Army intelligence analyst Chelsea Manning
- f. Mark Klein, an employee of ATT, whistleblowing on the relationships between ATT and the National Security Agency
- g. Edward Snowden leaking highly classified information from the National Security Agency
- h. Data from the European Space Agency's Planck spacecraft revealed that the universe is 13.82 billion years old

This article is all about Snowden, mass surveillance, and privacy

3) According to the author, the first component of privacy is secrecy. It is defined as:

- a. Our ability to keep the content of our messages known only to those we intend to receive them
- b. Our ability to keep the content of our messages' unknown to the Government
- c. Our ability to keep the answer to this question unknown to the professor

Secrecy goes beyond the ears of the government

4) According to the author, people faced with the issues of loss of privacy usually answer with one of two claims: "It's hopeless, privacy is gone, why struggle?" and

- a. "Internet has brought us a level of privacy that did not exist before"
- b. "I am not doing anything wrong. Why should I care?"
- c. "Privacy and security are not compatible"
- d. "Privacy is a luxury that we do not need anymore"

Privacy is a right that deserves to be respected.

5) According to the author, privacy is

- a. A transaction between two people
- b. A relation among many people
- c. Unacceptable for a democratic society page 20): When we decide to give away our personal information, we are also undermining the privacy of other people. Privacy is therefore always a relation among many people.